

DIY GOD

Got some DIY to sort, and just don't know where to start? Wondering what time of day is best to begin, or even what you should drink for optimum Do It Yourselfing?

FORMULA

What about help - are you better off going it alone or recruiting someone better, stronger, more agile and better equipped than you?

FEAR NOT

We've scoured the nation to suss out the nuts, bolts and thingamajigs of everything DIY to better prepare YOU for the task at hand. Want to be the DIY God you've always dreamed of being? Read on...

1. PLAN IT

This is not the time to be jumping in at the deep end. Plan the task, and then mull it over for approximately one week before going at it.

2. SATURDAY

Forget Mondays. In fact, forget any week day. Got a home job to do? You're best saving it 'till Saturday - though Sunday will work at a push.

3. SNOOZE

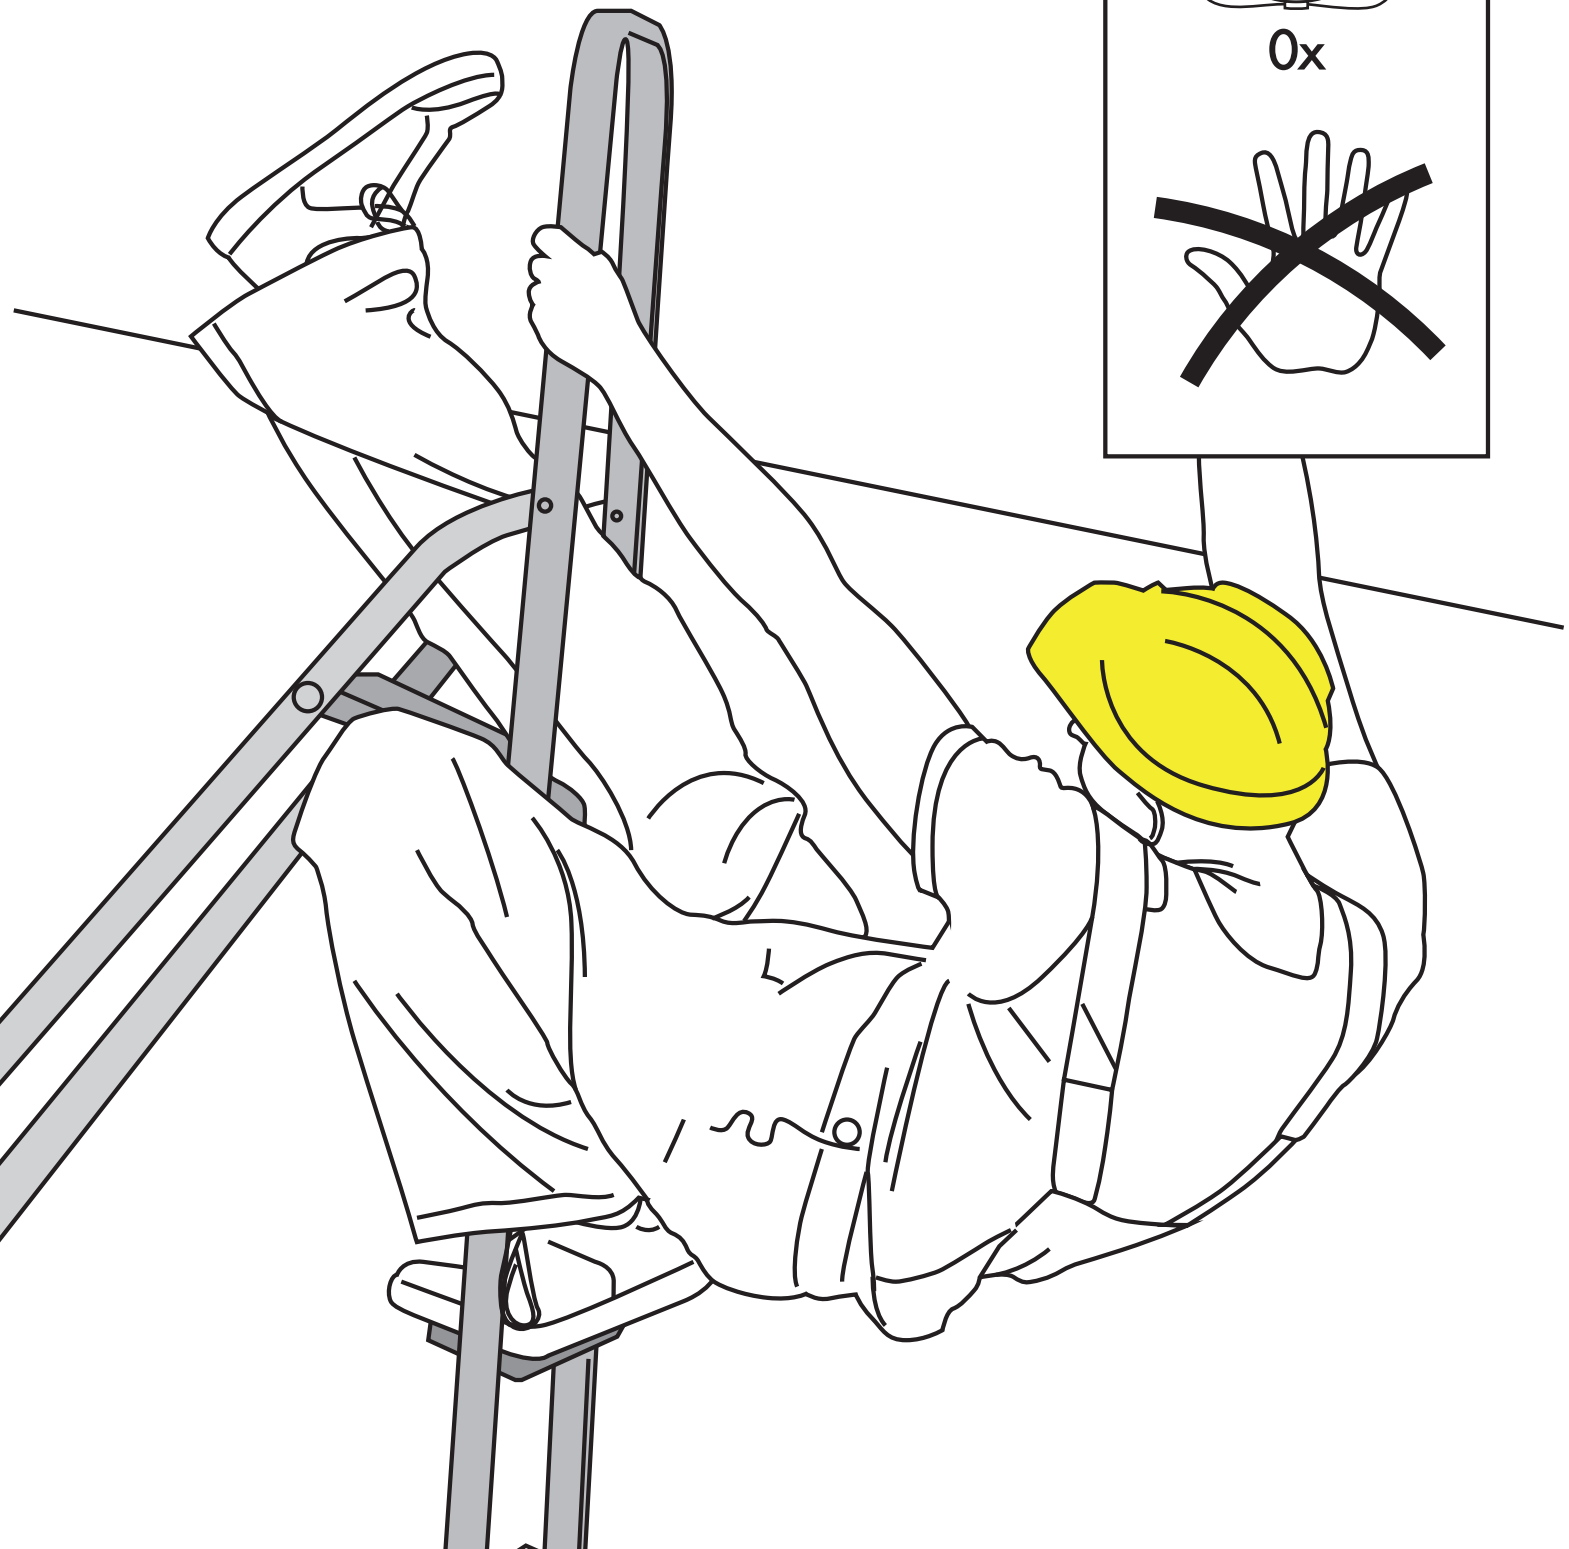

DIY is best done on a well-rested head.
Ignore 7, 8, 9am and snooze right on through 'till 10.

YOU SNOOZE,
YOU... WIN.

4. GO IT ALONE

Toughen up. Be brave. It's time to go it alone. Project too big? Ask a friend or family member - not your partner.

5. BUILDERS BREW

Leave those cold beers in the fridge - this is not the time for celebrating. DIY needs power - power fuelled by the most golden of teas.*

*Coffee is also acceptable.
